

• GRAPHIC DESIGN
 • PRINTING
 • BRANDING

Let's TALK

+233 [0] 20 580 3778
 +233 [0] 24 379 5984
 al.da.designer30@gmail.com
 al_da_designer20

Africa's Rich History – Meet Queen Nanny the Ghanaian-Jamaican Leader who led the First Victorious Maroon War against the British in Jamaica

Queen Nanny, Granny Nanny, or Nanny of the Maroons was an early-18th-century freedom fighter and leader of the Jamaican Maroons. She led a community of formerly-enslaved escapees, the majority of them West African in descent, called the Windward Maroons, along with their children and families. At the beginning of the 18th century, under the leadership of Nanny, the Windward Maroons fought a guerrilla war lasting many years against British authorities in the Colony of Jamaica, in what became known as the First Maroon War.

Nanny was also known as Granny Nanny, Grandy Nanny was a Maroon leader and Obeah woman in Jamaica during the late 17th and early 18th centuries. Maroons were slaves in the Americas who escaped and formed independent settlements. Nanny herself was an escaped slave who had been shipped from Western Africa. It has been widely accepted that she came from the Ashanti tribe of present-day Ghana.

Nanny and her four brothers (all of whom became Maroon leaders) were sold into slavery and later escaped from their plantations into the mountains and jungles that still make up a large proportion of Jamaica. Nanny and one of her brothers, Quao, founded a village in the Blue Mountains, on the Eastern (or Windward) side of Jamaica, which became known as Nanny Town. Nanny has been described as a practitioner of Obeah, a term used in the Caribbean to describe folk magic (voodoo) and religion based on West African influences.

Visit our website <https://www.globalafricantimes.com> for more

Why Your Dream Job Doesn't Exist Yet: The Secret to Crafting Your Own Career

By Ethel Cofie

Who said you have to follow a traditional career path to be successful? In today's rapidly evolving world, the concept of a "career" is no longer confined to a single job title or industry. Just like Dr. Sanjay Gupta, John Grisham, and Charles Michael, you too can redefine what a career means to you. In this blog post, we'll explore how you can break the mold and turn your unique blend of skills into a novel career path.

The Traditional Career Path: A Thing of the Past?

According to a study by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the average person changes jobs 12 times during his or her career. This statistic alone challenges the traditional notion that a career is a lifelong commitment to a single profession. But why is this shift happening? One reason could be the rapid advancements in technology, which are creating new job roles and making some obsolete. Another could be the changing priorities of the workforce, where work-life balance and job satisfaction are becoming as important as the paycheck.

The Necessity of Building Novel Career Paths

In a world where industries are being disrupted at an unprecedented rate, sticking to traditional career paths can be limiting. According to a report by McKinsey & Company, about 60% of all occupations have at least 30% of activities that could be automated. This means that job roles are changing, and you must adapt to stay relevant. Creating a novel career path not only makes you more adaptable but also opens doors to opportunities you may never have considered.

Charles Michael: The Chef Who Teaches Leadership

Then there's Charles Michael, a chef who has leveraged his culinary skills to teach creative leadership for Fortune 500 companies. According to a Harvard Business Review study, companies that invest in leadership development see a 21% increase in profitability. Charles Michael is contributing to this statistic in his own unique way.

The Smart Woman: A Case Study

I'm particularly inspired by the author of "The Smart Woman," a finance professional who wanted to teach personal finance. She wrote a fictional book that has now been turned into a Netflix series. According to Netflix, the series has been streamed by over 5 million viewers in its first month.

• GRAPHIC DESIGN
 • PRINTING
 • BRANDING

Let's TALK

+233 [0] 20 580 3778
 +233 [0] 24 379 5984
 al.da.designer30@gmail.com
 al_da_designer20

It's Your Box to Recreate

Success doesn't have to fit into a predefined box; you have the power to recreate it. A recent Gallup poll revealed that 87% of millennials say that professional development or career growth opportunities are very important to them in a job. This shows that the younger generation is already thinking outside the box when it comes to their careers.

Follow our website <https://www.globalafricantimes.com> for more

Top 30 Resorts in Ghana – Sogakope Beach Resort and Spa, creating unforgettable memories

SOGAKOPE BEACH RESORT
 Sogakope, Ghana

Whether you seek a romantic escape, a family adventure, or a serene business retreat, our modern, African-inspired resort promises a perfect blend of elegance and comfort, making every moment truly special. Discover a world of luxury and tranquility along the scenic banks of the famous Volta River.

Our carefully curated offers are designed to elevate your stay and create unforgettable memories.

Beach Resort & Spa and Wild Life Adventure

Sogakope Beach Resort is more than just an elegant beach resort, it is the pride of Sogakope in the Volta Region of Ghana and its set in a rich and tranquil gardens with the famous Volta River on its doorstep.

Step into a world of wonder and adventure at our beach resort's zoo, where you can explore the fascinating wildlife that thrives in tropical and coastal environments.

A World Of Spa And Activities & Secure Beach Retreat

Our rejuvenating range of spa treatments will make your stay at Sogakope Beach Resort. We offer facials, massages, manicures, pedicures, hot tub therapy and reflexology. Drawing inspiration from the river's revitalizing energy, our treatments are crafted to help you unwind and awaken your senses.

Dive into activities for all tastes, seasons, and ages. Water sports like jet skiing, relax with beachside yoga, tennis, basketball, horse riding, treasure hunts, unwind with a sunset cruise.

Whether you're a high-profile guest, a couple seeking a romantic getaway, or simply looking for a peaceful retreat, privacy and protection from intrusions are essential. Whether exploring the beach, indulging in late-night activities, or unwinding in your room, guests can rest assured that their security and peace of mind are a top priority.

Riverfront Dining

Our accommodation options are designed to provide unparalleled comfort and luxury. Choose from our selection of riverfront rooms, beachfront relaxation, and family suites, each offering stunning views, convenient shop, spacious interiors, and modern amenities.

So if you are planning a visit in Ghana, make it a point to book your stay ahead ...Call +233 246966374 , +233 (0)55 929 6823 Or send an email to reservations@sogakopebeach.com

Namibia bids farewell to her Founding father, Sam Nujoma, at 95

Nujoma was seen as the last of a generation of African figures who headed anti-colonial movements and fought for freedom. "Therefore, his departure signals an end of an era, a founding father of Africa," President Mbumba said in an earlier speech at a national memorial service on Friday.

He led the long fight for freedom from South Africa, which was then under white-minority rule, and helped found the liberation movement known as the South West Africa People's Organization (Swapo) in the 1960s. The leader of Namibia's independence struggle against apartheid South Africa died last month at the age of 95.

Namibia's founding father Sam Nujoma was "a giant among leaders" and left behind "the most precious gift of... freedom", Namibia's President, Nangolo Mbumba, has said. He spoke in front of the large crowd at Heroes' Acre, where the country's most revered citizens are buried, before Nujoma was laid to rest in a mausoleum.

Namibians and other Africans must tell the tale of Sam Nujoma, sitting by the campfires or in the hallowed halls of universities, not to regale the audience with fancies and romance, but with the dry facts of sacrifice, struggle and the grim determination of a revolutionary living for a cause and shutting out every Showcase your Brand, Products and Services to Ghana and the whole of Africa. Advertise with us and reach every African with your voice.

For Adverts , Editorials and Advertorials contact us on +233 (0) 200 155123 or via email info@globalafricantimes.com

- GRAPHIC DESIGN
- PRINTING
- BRANDING

Let's TALK

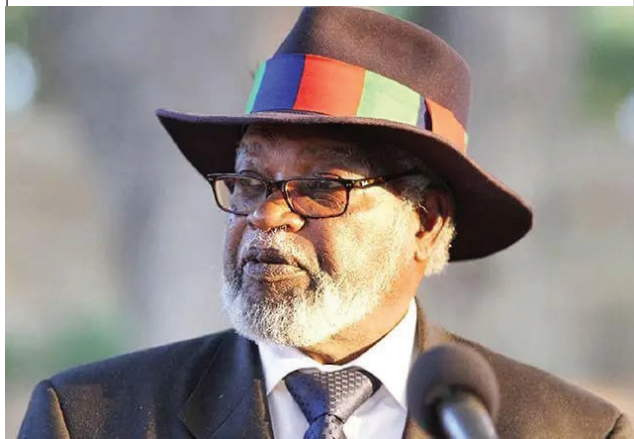

+233 [0] 20 580 3778
 +233 [0] 24 379 5984
 al.da.designer30@gmail.com
 al_da_designer20

Corporate Governance Best Practices for Nations, Organizations and Corporation by Dr. Brian Reuben, 16th Council sentiment and emotion of ordinary moments, that are mere trifles that must be suppressed to keep the higher purpose of living in focus, unalloyed by the intrusion of external conditions.

Writing our own history and telling our own tales must form the centrality of the struggle against imperialism and the vestiges of colonialism that have remained obstinately alive and palpably present in the reality of the global geopolitical alignments and exhibition of intolerance to other races and peoples.

Read more from our website <https://www.globalafricantimes.com>

In 2025 and beyond, corporate governance is expected to evolve in response to emerging global challenges, technological advancements, and shifting stakeholder expectations. Traditionally centered on accountability, transparency, and fairness, corporate governance is now expanding to address complex issues like environmental sustainability, technological integration, and social responsibility. The increasing interconnectedness of the global economy, the rise of Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) considerations, and greater scrutiny from regulators and the public are reshaping how organizations define and implement governance practices.

Key trends include the growing emphasis on ESG factors, with investors and regulators demanding more robust transparency and accountability in relation to environmental impact, social equity, and governance structures. Companies are increasingly held responsible for their broader societal role, with a focus on long-term value creation rather than short-term profits. Technology is also playing a pivotal role, with tools like artificial intelligence and blockchain becoming integral to risk management, decision-making, and reporting.

Furthermore, diversity and inclusion are becoming central to corporate governance, as diverse leadership teams are shown to drive better decision-making and performance. Companies are also facing heightened pressure to align executive compensation with long-term performance, ensuring that pay structures reflect shareholder interests and ethical standards.

In 2025, governance frameworks will need to be more agile, integrating advanced technologies and adopting a proactive stance in addressing global risks and stakeholder concerns.

Visit our website to continue this article <https://www.globalafricantimes.com>

